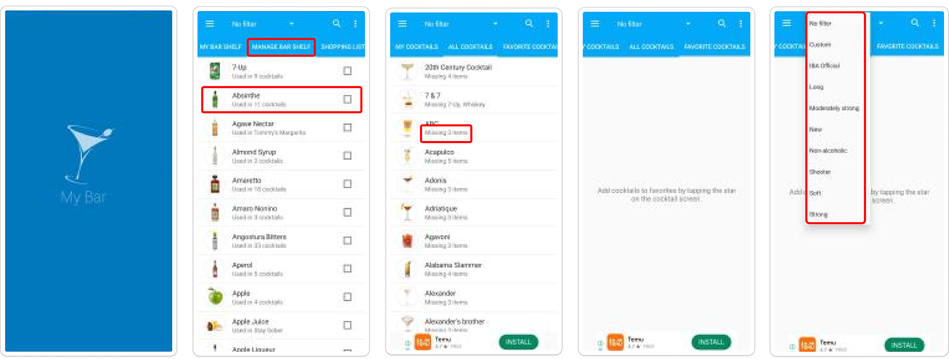
The presence of very relevant information available to the user, such as preparation time and calories, stands out. We also highlight the presence of detailed recommendations regarding the necessary materials. Finally, we highlight the option of providing different ingredient alternatives to the user, with their respective prices.

Images and comments about My Bar



Team comment

My Bar is a fairly versatile application when it comes to finding a cocktail to prepare, whether based on your personal tastes or a certain level of alcohol. What we highlight about this application is the ability to filter cocktails by the ingredients that the user has and also by the level of alcohol it has.
